As the curtain rises on the scene of Huntington College we view the beautiful sixty-five acre campus located at the north edge of the city of Huntington on the banks of the Wabash. This city claims a population of nearly sixteen thousand.

Upon the scene come more than two hundred players and directors. These people have come from many states in the Union and several foreign countries.

We notice people engaged in activities and duties in the various buildings around the campus. First in view is Wright Memorial Hall where the men students reside. Our attention is directed to the residence of one group of women students which is situated at the rear of Wright Memorial Hall. Next we see the recently-constructed Loew-Alumni Library which is directly across the street from Livingston Hall, the women's dormitory. We follow on to College Hall, the administration building. We come now to the gymnasium and the heating plant. Continuing around the campus we notice the science building.

With this view of the scene and introduction to the characters of this drama, let us anticipate the remainder of the scene to be presented herein.

Robert Paine came to Huntington College in the fall of 1950 to be a professor of history and political science.

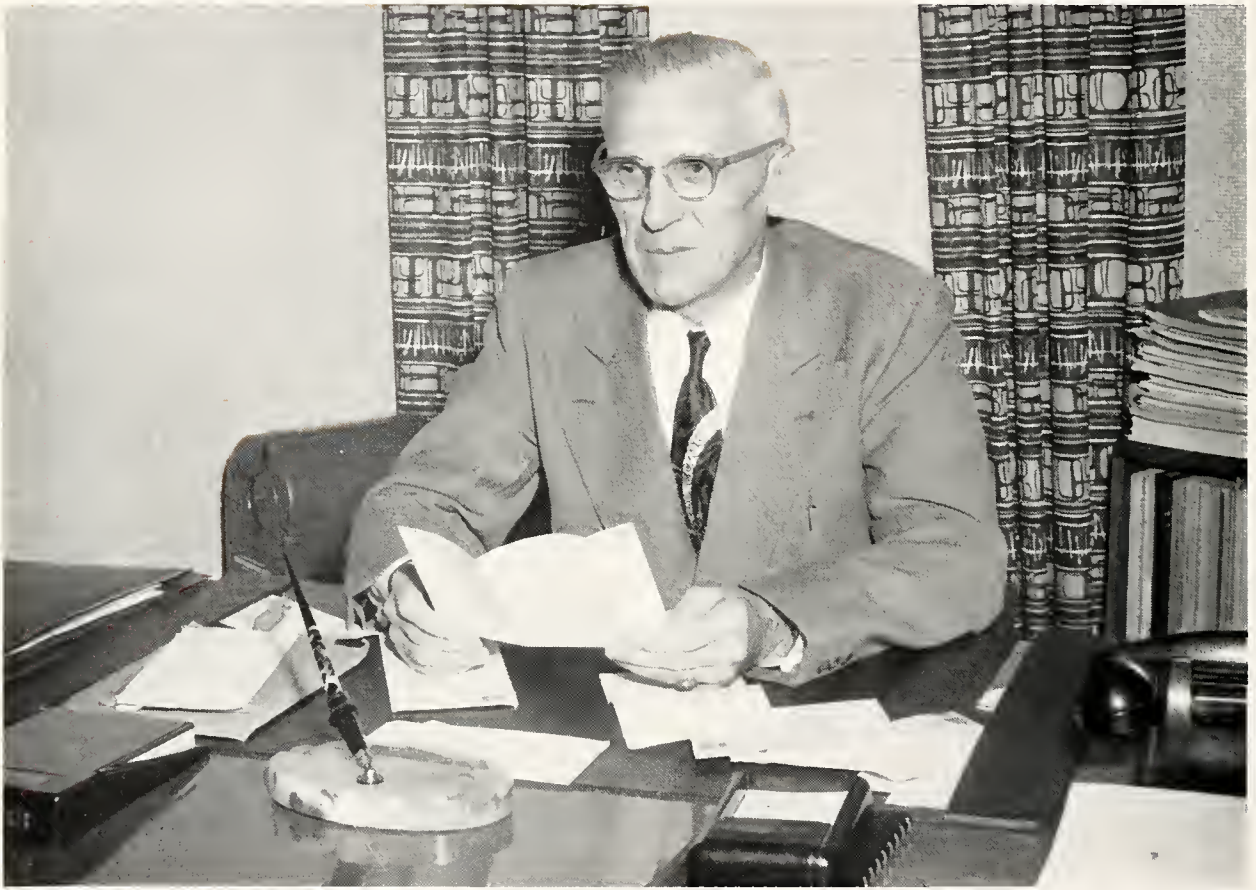

As advisor of the class of '55 and as one who is always willing to counsel with students, he has done much to deserve recognition. Mr. Paine has always shown intense interest and enjoyment in the activities of the college. His desire to improve conditions that would be a benefit to the college program has been evident during the years he has been on the faculty.

Because of his Christian testimony and his interest in the activities of the students, we, the Mnemosyne staff of '55, do hereby dedicate this yearbook to a faculty member whom we are proud to have at Huntington College.

president

Dr. Elmer Becker, president of Huntington College, devotes much time and interest in performing the duties of administering a Christian college. He not only keeps the school running smoothly and efficiently, but also attends the extra-curricular activities.

Dr. Becker is an alumnus of Huntington College as a graduate of the class of 1923. He has served as president of this college since 1941.

His leadership ability and his deep religious convictions make him a man to be admired by both the students and the faculty.

who's who

Ardyce Hoffer.

Maurice Reed.

This year the members of the faculty and the senior class elected Ardyce Hoffer, Ashley, Michigan; Roger Buzzard, Huntington, and Maurice Reed, Huntington, to represent Huntington College in the publication Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. These students were chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and cooperativeness in extra-curricular activities, citizenship, and their service to the school. To be elected to Who's Who is an honor and a mark of distinction.

The more important extra-curricular activities in which these students were actively engaged were Maurice Reed's serving as president of the 1955 Student Council, Ardyce Hoffer's editorship of the 1955 Mnemosyne and Roger Buzzard's presidency of the class of '55 for two successive years.

Four brief years ago, another class of freshmen entered the scene at Huntington College. This class was prompt in accepting the role assigned to it. Various activities along with studies occupied their time in those first semesters.

In the third year that the class continued its part in the drama of college life, it seemed that raising money was the primary interest of their class. Because of the able leadership and the cooperation of the classmates, the projects undertaken were successful.

The highlight of activities during that year was the Junior-Senior Reception. Here again the juniors displayed their imagination and ingenuity in developing the theme—"The Greatest Show on Earth—Life." The banquet hall was decorated with balloons, miniature circus tents, clowns, and circus animals.

As customary, the junior class was responsible for decorating the gymnasium for the commencement exercises. As a gesture of good will their class presented a rose to each of the graduates.

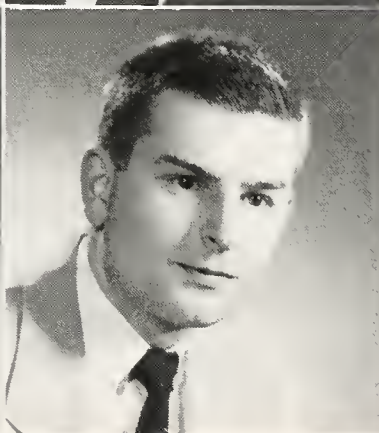

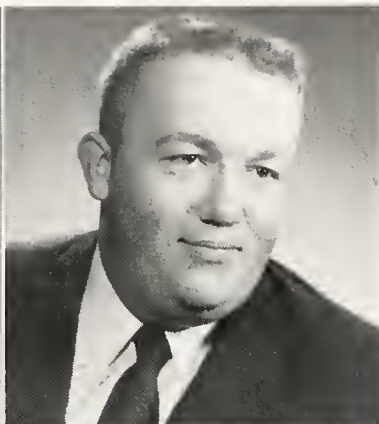

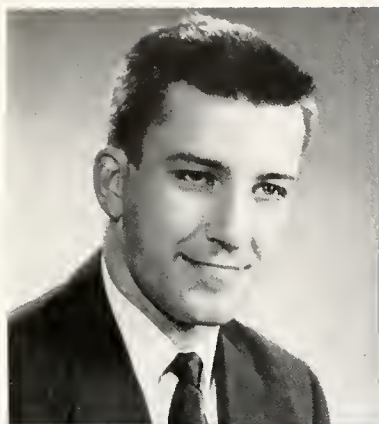

When they became seniors they again chose Roger Buzzard to serve as president. The other officers were: Mildred Birdsall, vice president; Sandra Schacht, secretary, and Halden Platt, treasurer.

The outstanding interests of the senior class were choosing a gift to present to the college, selecting commencement announcements, planning skip day and supporting the plans for the student lounge.

Mr. Pfister, Burton Lange,
Burton Weber, Raymond Waldfogel

The Theological Seminary of Huntington College offers a full graduate theological course leading to the Bachelor of Divinity, or B.D. degree. This is a three year course beyond the standard four-year college bachelor degree.

Besides the B.D. degree, the Seminary offers the College Theological course, which consists of three years of theological course on the college level, requiring two years of work toward the A.B. degree as a prerequisite for entrance.

The Seminary also offers the Three Year Bible Diploma course. This course offers the minimum of theological training and is designed for those who do not meet the academic requirements of the degree courses.

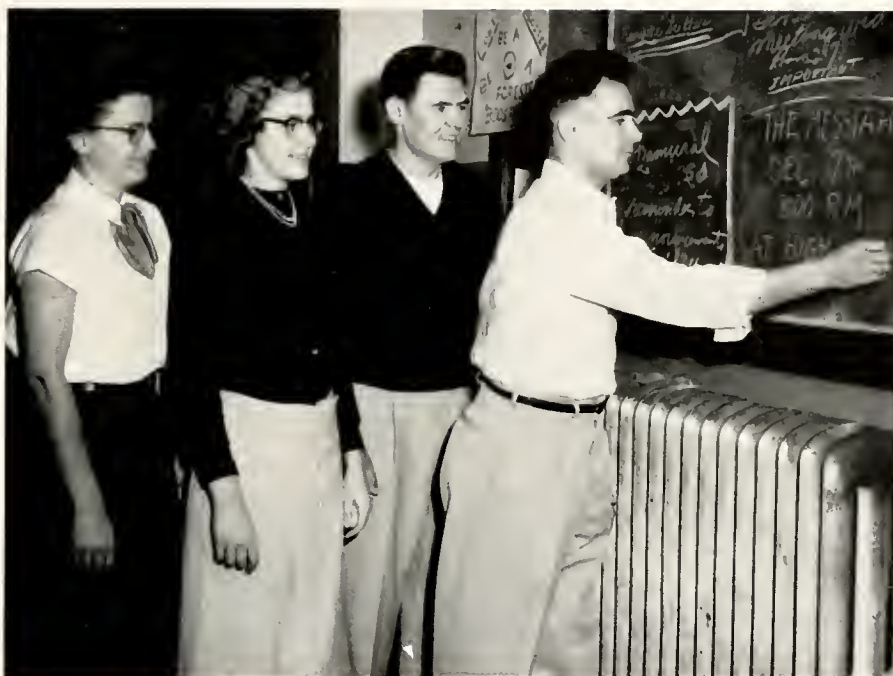

The officers of the Seminary organization are Raymond Waldfogel, president; Burton Lange, vice president, and Burton Weber, secretary treasurer.

Muriel Rodgers, Grace Ann Graham, Marvin Price, Dewey Farris.

Thirty juniors returned to the campus to begin their third year at Huntington College. Mr. Ralph Bealer was chosen to be the class advisor and the officers were: Dewey Farris, president; Marvin Price, vice president; Muriel Rodgers, secretary, and Grace Ann Graham, treasurer.

The class sponsored a hayrack ride during October with Hal Platt and Dorothy Campbell, seniors, reigning as king and queen. Two wagon loads of students and faculty members enjoyed a long ride along the countryside to the Pasko farm where a bonfire and refreshments awaited the group.

In November many people from the community, along with the students, attended the Junior Penny Supper. After the supper a program was given in Davis Hall which included local musical talent and slide pictures of Europe.

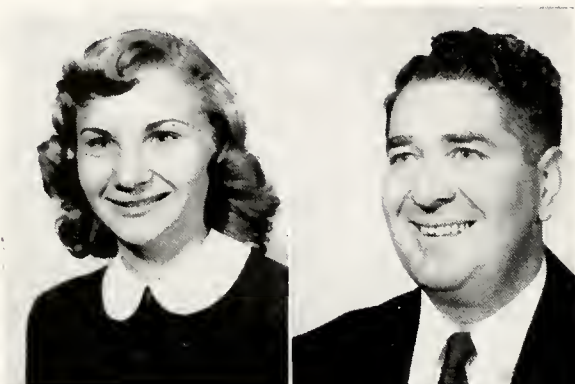

Soon after the second semester began, the Juniors were busy on money-making projects with all thoughts directed toward the Junior-Senior Reception and its responsibilities for the Juniors.

The reception was the highpoint of the Junior year. All the hard work of the year was forgotten when the results were seen at the reception.

After the reception the Juniors relaxed from all the activities of the year to wait for an even busier year ahead of them—the time when they would be seniors.

Robert Baker, Marietta Crowe, Elaine Tripp, Donald Betterly.

The sophomores arrived on campus last fall slightly depleted in numbers, but full of pep and spirit.

Everyone had a wonderful time at the ice cream freeze sponsored by the Student Council, and the "greenies" were beginning to think that what they had heard about the "sophs" and upper-classmen could not possibly be true.

But their dreams were soon shattered by the full force of a typical sophomore-planned initiation which ended in a tug-of-war across the Little river. The sophomore men made quick work of the war and within a few minutes pulled the dripping and disillusioned "frosh" up on the bank.

Headed by a fine group of class officers namely, Robert Baker, president; Elaine Tripp, vice president; Marietta Crowe, secretary, and Don Betterly, treasurer; they continued their efforts to be the "most unforgettable class that Huntingon College had ever met."

Throughout the year their treasury and general enthusiasm for the school swelled. They were proud of the way many members turned out to do more than their share of work on the Student Lounge. They hope to return next year to enjoy the finished product. They were human—they had their disagreements, but nothing could stop them from working together when they wanted to see something done.

At the beginning of the second semester since two officers did not return and another became a junior, the following were elected: vice president, Harold Schmitke; secretary, Janet Jacobsen, and treasurer, Robert Peters.

Max Fordyce, Fred Foushee, Jean Grafstrom, Donal Fredrick.

Having survived freshman initiation and those dreaded beanies, the freshmen are proud to say they are a part of this wonderful institution, Huntington College. They admit that the sophomore fellows succeeded in winning the tug-of-war through the Wabash following the Freshman Day parade down Jefferson Street. However, the freshmen girls were able to pull the sophomore girls through the spray of water on the campus to win the girls' tug-of-war.

They began the year by electing their class officers, who were: Max Fordyce, president; Fred Foushee, vice president; Don Fredrick, treasurer, and Jean Grafstrom, secretary. The student council representative is Carolyn Huntley and the alternate is Betty Walton. Sarah Wiley represents the class on the library committee. Miss Dawn Betterly is the class advisor.

The first social event the freshmen attended was an ice cream freeze during which the freshmen were sent on a scavenger hunt. This social was sponsored by the Student Council so the members of the freshman class could more easily become acquainted with their classmates.

As a major money-making project the class sold sweaters, T-shirts and jackets.

As a class they hope to continue to grow in wisdom as they take their enjoyable but brief journey through this college.

student council

The Student Council functions as the executive and administrative body of the Student Union to discuss current student problems. The Student Council is an elected body with representatives and the president from each class.

Maurice Reed was elected by the Student Union to carry the responsibilities of president of the Student Council. The other officers were Roger Buzzard, vice president; Joyce Batdorff, secretary and Fern Mattson, treasurer. Dr. Melvin Davis was the advisor.

The Council was called into many special sessions in addition to the regular meetings to direct the provision for a student lounge in the basement of College Hall.

To provide finances for the Student Lounge the Council sponsored several major projects. Twirp Week, sponsored by the Student Council, added some "spice" to the social life of Huntington College.

One of the most active organizations at Huntington College is the Young Women's Christian Association. The purpose of the organization is to promote the Christian character of the students of our college.

Each monthly program presented a different phase of the theme for the year which was "The Christian Girl." Some of the interesting topics were "The Christian Girl and Her God," "The Christian Girl and Her Country," "The Christian Girl and Her Vocation," and "The Christian Girl and Her Friends."

With the Young Men's Christian Association, the women's organization sponsored the Y-Mixer, the Thanksgiving Banquet and the Y-Retreat.

The Y-Retreat was at the Bluffton State Park

on May 28. This is a day set aside for spiritual and recreational activities. Throughout the day such activities as boating, volley ball, tennis and baseball were carried on to supplement the uplifting devotional services.

Other activities which the Y.W.C.A. sponsors are the Big and Little Sister parties, and the May Tea at which time the newly-elected officers for the following year are installed.

The officers for the year were: Grace Ann Graham, president; Margaret Lyons, vice president; Lois Bender, secretary and Marietta Crowe, treasurer. Jennelle VanTilburg was the treasurer appointed to complete the duties for the remainder of the year upon the resignation of Marietta Crowe. Miss E. Faye Connor served as the advisor.

Membership in the Young Men's Christian Association is open to all Christian men who are students at Huntington College. The aim of the organization is to encourage growth in Christian interests and ideals.

A variety of programs including several speeches on topics pertinent to Christian men, a Christian film and slides of scenes in Korea were a means of broadening the interests of the members.

The Y-Mixer, the Thanksgiving Banquet in the fall and the Y-Retreat in the spring are sponsored jointly with the Young Women's Christian Association. These occasions constitute the major activities during the year of these two organizations.

The Y.M.C.A. is one of the service organizations that co-operates in planning the arrangements for Christian Life Emphasis Week in March.

The Thanksgiving Banquet of 1954 was in the parlors of the Central Christian Church in Huntington. The banquet is closed to members and their guests and members of the faculty and the administrative staff of the college. The program included two vocal solos, a saxophone solo, a reading and an address by Bob Carlin, a former radio announcer on station WOWO, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Officers elected to serve for the year 1954-1955 were Don Betterly, president; Marvin Price, vice president; Jack Elser, secretary treasurer and Harold Fero, chaplin. Norlan C. Henderson was the faculty advisor.

Gospel Volunteers is an organization for the purpose of promoting effective practical work consisting of noon-day prayer meetings, jail services and tract distribution.

The daily prayer meetings began several years ago when some students recognized the need for united prayer in behalf of Christian Life Emphasis Week. The prayer meetings have now become a vital part of many student's daily activities.

Religious services at the county jail are conducted bi-weekly by members of the organization.

Noon day prayer meeting.

The true way of life is presented to the listeners by a student speaker and also by means of gospel music.

Officers for the year were: Jack Elser, president; Neal Brinneman, vice president; Margaret Lyons, secretary, and Kathryn Smith, treasurer. The faculty advisors were Miss Irene Bergdall and Chester B. Smith.

The Clericus also takes an active part in Christian Life Emphasis Week by arranging for the week-end visitation for young people of college or near-college age who are invited in for the last days of the week.

The officers for the year were: James Dempsey, president; Norman Russell, vice president; Robert Miller, secretary and Donnell Campbell, treasurer. The faculty sponsors for the year were Dr. Burkholder and Mr. Pfister.

All students on the campus of Huntington College who are in training for full-time Christian services are eligible for membership in the Clericus. Clericus is a service organization. A very important part of this service is the series of monthly meetings planned each year which are designed to give valuable help to the missionary and ministerial students in the Seminary and in the under-graduate school.

This year the subject for the meetings was "Preparation for Church Extension," in which the spiritual, legal, financial and organizational preparation for the church extension which is so important to the well-being of the United Brethren church was discussed by speakers who were qualified to speak on these subjects.

To further interest in the Seminary, Clericus members were active in the planning and carrying out of the Seminary Day January 17, 1955. Dr. W. Warren Filkin, Jr., head of the Department of Christian Education at Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago, was the speaker for the day. The various events included a speech in chapel, two workshops, and an address on "Developing Leadership in the Local Church" following a banquet for the seminary students and their guests.

Campus Players is an organization for those interested in speech and dramatics. It is a pleasant way of gaining practical knowledge of these fields.

This main presentation for the public was the annual fall production. This year the play The Curious Savage by John Patrick was produced. This gave members the opportunity to participate in such things as acting, publicity, make-up, and stagecraft.

Programs throughout the year included a Christmas party, a student-directed play, and readings given by members of the club.

Ardyce Hoffer heads the organization as president with the assistance of Roger Buzzard, vice president; Annabell Reed, secretary, and Mildred Birdsall, treasurer. Carl Zurcher and William Thomas are the co-sponsors.

The Future Teachers of America at Huntington College is a local chapter of the nationwide organization. The members, accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. Edward Coleson, were quite busy during the year with various activities.

In the fall they made a trip to Indianapolis to attend the Indiana Future Teachers of America Convention. They also visited the Huntington High School audio-visual center. At the monthly meetings several Huntington teachers spoke to the members.

The officers are: Sandra Schacht, president; Dorothy Campbell, vice president; Anna Corcoran, secretary treasurer, and Joyce Tipton, state reporter.

The Women's Recreational Association is using its new name for the first time this year. It is one of the most active clubs on the campus. The girls of the organization play a great part in planning their own sports program, which has included a variety of interesting activities.

The Women's Recreation Association has as its primary money-making project the selling of concessions at basketball games during the season. Some of the other projects were to sponsor skating parties and an intramural basketball and volleyball program which is gaining interest and attention.

One of the most significant events of the year is the custom of giving baskets of food to needy families at Christmas time. The individual members contributed articles of food and the organization purchased some larger items. The food was arranged in gaily decorated baskets and then delivered to the homes. While in the homes, the girls sang several Christmas carols, read the Christmas story from the Scriptures, then wished the families a merry Christmas and a blessed New Year.

As a climax to the active W.R.A. program, the members enjoyed a two-day camping trip to Lake Tippecanoe near North Webster, Indiana.

varsity club

The Varsity Club is an athletic organization on campus made up of men who have won at least one major athletic letter.

This year the club is arranging plans for a tournament of independent teams in this area. The Varsity Club assisted the Women's Recreational Association in selling concessions at the basketball games.

The club is completing a two-year project of providing the basketball team with warm-up suits. These new outfits were purchased at the beginning of the year and the basketball players showed their appreciation for this worthwhile project.

The members elected as their officers: Hal Platt, president; Roger Carey, vice president; Gene Buzzard, secretary, and Paul Hammel, treasurer.

The a cappella choir enjoyed a successful year singing for the glory of God. A number of presentations were made during the year which included a Sunday afternoon program at College Park Church, participation in a Christmas program sponsored by the music department, and the presentation of several numbers during the Commencement activities.

The choir had a major part in the community chorus which presented Handel's Messiah at the Huntington High School Auditorium.

The officers elected to care for matters of business were: Jim Howald, president; Don Betterly, vice president; Carolyn Miller, secretary treasurer; Marcus Burkholder, Bob Peters and Carol Becker, roberians, and Frances Lobdell and Mildred Birdsall, librarians.

It is traditional that prior to the spring tour the choir spend a week-end in special practice. This year Camp Mack was the site chosen for the retreat.

During the spring tour the choir sang for congregations in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Many places of interest including Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C. were visited by the members of the choir.

men's quartet

The Sylvan Four quartet composed of Fred Foushee, first tenor (seated), Vern Sharp, second tenor, Harold Fero, baritone, and Don Betterly, bass, visited many churches and high schools throughout the year.

ladies' trio

The Ladies' Trio, composed of Carolyn Miller, soprano, Lois Bender, second soprano, and Mildred Birdsall, alto, had many opportunities to sing for social groups and church services in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

trumpet trio

The trumpet trio composed of Donald Dennie, Jennelle Van-Tilburg, and Carolyn Huntley played at many churches as well as going with the Rev. W. M. Souders, public relations director, to high schools of the community.

girls' quartet

The girls' quartet is a new music group which was formed this year. The group with Mary Alys Smith singing first soprano; Annie Meadows, second soprano; Ruth Meyer, first alto, and Norma Gage, second alto, presented numbers for programs at the college and also in the city.

music for the master trio

"Music for the Master" trio with Barbara Mull, soprano; Kathryn Smith, second soprano; and Frances Lobdell, alto, sang for church services and college programs throughout the year.

Some of their singing engagements took them to Michigan and Ohio besides several churches in Indiana. Mrs. Shirley Riddle rehearsed with the trio.

A girls' ensemble composed of Anna Corcoran, Nancy Carey, Sandra Hey, Darlene Stoesz, Mary Lou Householder and Joan Towne was newly-organized this year as a part of the work of the music department and the public relations department. This ensemble was also directed by Mrs. Shirley Riddle.

basketball

The Huntington College Foresters enjoyed their best season in many years as they raced to an 11-8 won-lost record. The Foresters were paced by two seniors, a junior and a freshman. Maurice Reed with his best season, added to his many laurels by breaking the all-time Huntington College scoring record. The previous record held by Marshall Schoeff with 358 points was eclipsed by Reed who garnered 372 points in 19 games.

Les Uffelman with his best season often led the Foresters in scoring and rebounding. Hal Platt was the other senior of the squad and these three will be sorely missed. Gene Buzzard, another senior, was unable to play this year because of an injury.

Paul Hammel was the playmaker of the team and led in assists. He also came in second only to Reed as high in free-throw percentage. He and Gene Gibson were the outstanding juniors of the team and provided a potent back court.

Tom Rethlake, the Foresters' sensational freshman center covered both offensive and defensive boards in fine form besides being the second high scorer.

The high point of the Forester season was the big game with Manchester. The Foresters walked off with an eight point win for the first time in many years. All in all the Foresters led by Coach Klopfenstein had their best season in many years.

The Huntington College Foresters were blessed this year with two capable student managers, Roger Carey and Marcus Burkholder. It was their duty to do all the dirty work that goes along with keeping a basketball team functioning, such as hanging up suits and washing towels. They did a commendable job and have earned the great distinction of being "unsung heroes."

coach

Coach Richard Klopfenstein, returning to his second year as Huntington College Physical Education director, was even more successful than in 1953-54. Not only did he lead the Foresters to their best basketball season in several years but largely through his efforts the college gymnasium was completely remodeled inside. This is another clear-cut proof of his enthusiasm.

christian life emphasis week

"God's Way—My Way" was the theme of Christian Life Emphasis Week which has become a vital part of the lives of Huntington College students. It is customary that the first week of March be set aside for this series of revival services. The meetings are in Davis Auditorium each evening, Monday through the following Sunday. The morning assembly periods are conducted as a part of the Christian Life Emphasis Week services.

This year Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, '25, pastor of the Chambersburg, Pennsylvania United Brethren church was the speaker for Christian Life Emphasis Week. Dr. Meadows has had much experience in working with young people and his ability to understand their needs and problems makes him a valuable Christian leader.

During the week-end of Christian Life Emphasis Week many friends visited the college with the majority being of college or near-college age. They found this week-end a fine opportunity to learn how the students of a Christian college live. Special activities were planned to acquaint the visitors with Huntington College.

The Communion service Sunday afternoon served as a time of re-consecration and dedication to a renewed life which was realized during the week of services.

The Religious Life and Service Committee was responsible for making the general plans and appointing committees to carry out the details of the Christian Life Emphasis Week services.

FLOORS ARE PROBLEMS ...everywhere!

That's why it pays to let Huntington specialists help solve your floor maintenance problems. There's a tried and proved Huntington product for nearly every floor finishing and cleaning requirement. And for the exception, there is a willingness on the part of Huntington Laboratories to develop the special product you need to get the job done correctly, at low cost.

The result is longer wearing finishes and greater protection for your floors...faster application and reduced labor costs.
